Presented By NYU's Schack Institute of Real Estate
Wednesday, February 3rd, 6:30PM

Queen of Retail* Debates "Adapting in an Era of Change"
Held at NYU's Kimmel Center, 60 Washington Square South, 10th Floor

International retail real estate leader Faith Hope Consolo, Chairman of Prudential Douglas Elliman's Retail Group, is participating on a panel of top women professionals in commercial real estate at New York University's Schack Institute of Real Estate Alumni Association, Wednesday, February 3, 2010, 6:30 p.m., at NYU's Kimmel Center, 60 Washington Square South, 10th floor. Moderating the panel, entitled "Adapting in an Era of Change," will be Barbara E. Champoux, partner, Crowell & Moring, LLP.

"I am honored to have been invited to discuss seminal topics alongside such prominent women members of our industry," says Ms. Consolo. "There is tremendous opportunity in this field while the marketplace transitions back and it is important to identify these changes for the next generations."

Among the subjects planned for the discussion are women's changing roles in real estate, the impact of advancements in modern technology, and the continued shifting of boundaries and dynamics due to globalization.

Registration is required and may be implemented by phone at (212) 998-7300 or online at NYUSchackInstituteAlumni@nyu.edu.
